

Summer Internship: 8 weeks commencing 1 July 2024

Salary: London Living Wage

London-based (Tower Hill), hybrid with 40% of time in the office

This internship would be ideal for someone who is interested in a career related to public policy and / or financial services. You'll be joining the Association of British Insurers' (ABI) Health Team. This team is working hard to make sure that everyone has access to quality healthcare services at the time they need them. In the UK more and more people are out of work because of illness. This includes a steep rise of young people leaving the workforce due to mental health conditions. We think that employers have an important role to play in their employees' health and wellbeing. That's why we're campaigning for all employers to offer their employees access to healthcare services and to have to report publicly on what they're doing to invest in their people.

We're looking for an intern who can help our campaign by:

- Policy analysis on the options available for companies to publicly report information about health services available to their workforce.
- Interviewing experts in the field (we'll help you to organise these interviews).
- Use your insight to put forward recommendations on what policy options would help us to meet the aims of our campaign.
- You'll compile all of this into a short report, a blog for our website and a newsletter article that will be sent to thousands of our members.

We deal with some of the biggest issues facing the UK economy. Some of the issues we work on are: climate change and reaching Net Zero, improving the diversity of our sector, supporting people to access quality healthcare services and helping people get back on their feet if their home floods or their car is stolen.
